PREFACE

Amid the expansion of international distribution and personnel exchanges accompanying the further globalization of society, we are now facing greater risks of smuggling of goods harmful to society, such as methamphetamine and other illicit drugs that threaten the safety and peace of people's lives, guns and other terrorism-related materials, and goods infringing intellectual property rights.

Under such circumstances, Japan Customs and the Customs and Tariff Bureau of the Ministry of Finance position the prevention of goods harmful to society from entering Japan at the border as one of the most important issues and are proactively promoting various measures, including the enhancement of collection and analysis of information, strengthening of cooperation with the relevant authorities, further deployment of border control equipment, and utilization of cutting-edge technologies, in order to deal with the diversification of smuggling tactics. Japan Customs and the Customs and Tariff Bureau have compiled "Action Plan 2022 for the Realization of SMART Customs" and have been taking actions with the aim of improving the sophistication and efficiency of customs services and achieving "the world's leading Customs."

This booklet features smuggling trends in Japan and countermeasures being implemented by Japan Customs, considering the importance of Customs controls at the border against the smuggling of goods harmful to society. Through this booklet, we would like to provide some insight for law enforcement officials, contribute to a better understanding by the public about Customs enforcement activities, and ask for their greater cooperation with Customs.
