

Application for Cargo Discharge Permission

If cargo information for the pre-departure filing is not filed by the deadline, Japan Customs sends a filer an advance notice with “SPD” code. In such a case, those who discharge the cargo, e.g. a shipping company or a shipping agent, need to apply for cargo discharge permission to the Customs office which has jurisdiction over the port where the cargo to be discharged. The cargoes which received an advance notice with “SPD” code cannot be discharged without the permission to discharge by Japan Customs.

The cases where an advance notice with “SPD” code is sent to the filer of the “Manifest Submission (DMF)” or the “Advance Cargo Information Registration (AMR)” are;

- When the cargo information is not filed
- When the cargo information is not filed by the filing deadline

When the filer receives an advance notice with “SPD” code, the filer needs to carry out the Application for Cargo Discharge Permission, as described in the following pages.

- ① An advance notice with “SPD” code on the ground that the cargo information was not filed
- ② An advance notice with “SPD” code on the ground that filing of the cargo information was late for the deadline
- ③ An advance notice with “SPD” code on the ground that filing of the cargo information was late for the deadline (switched from “HLD”)

Procedure for the application for cargo discharge permission①

○ An advance notice with “SPD” code on the ground that the cargo information was not filed

Procedure for the application for cargo discharge permission

- ① When Japan Customs sends a filer an advance notice with “SPD” code because the cargo information for the advance filing was not filed , those who discharge the cargo need to request the relevant party to file the required cargo information, or carry out the filing by themselves.
- ② When those who discharge the cargo submit an application for cargo discharge permission through NACCS, they need to carry out the Application for Cargo Discharge Permission(DNC). As for the data elements for DNC, please refer to “Annex 19 Table of Input Fields of Application for Cargo Discharge Permission(DNC)” in “Introduction of the Advance Filing Rules on Maritime Container Cargo Information (guidance) ”.
【 《URL of Annex 19》 <http://www.customs.go.jp/english/summary/advance5/annex19.pdf> 】
- ②’ When those who discharge the cargo submit an application for cargo discharge permission in writing, they need to submit “Application format for permission of unloading”(Customs Form C No.2090) to Japan Customs office which has jurisdiction over the port of discharge.
【 《URL of a blank Customs Form》 http://www.customs.go.jp/kaisei/youshiki/form_C/C2090.doc 】
- ③ When filers submit an application for cargo discharge permission through NACCS or in writing, during the non-office hours of Japan Customs office which has jurisdiction over the port of discharge, filers need to contact the Customs office in advance. This procedure also applies to pre-arrival filing.
【A filer may refer to Reference 2 below for Customs’ contact points 】
- ④ When Japan Customs considers the cargo has no threats to security of Japan, based on a risk analysis of the cargo information, cargo discharge may be permitted. Even in such a case, those obliged to file may be penalized because the advance filing missed the deadline.

- An advance notice with “SPD” code on the ground that the cargo information was late for the deadline

Procedure for the application for cargo discharge permission

- ① When Japan Customs sends a filer an advance notice with “SPD” code because the filer missed the deadline for the advance filing, the filer doesn’t have to file the cargo information again.
- ② When those who discharge the cargo submit an application for cargo discharge permission through NACCS, they need to carry out the Application for Cargo Discharge Permission(DNC). As for the data elements for DNC, please refer to “Annex 19 Table of Input Fields of Application for Cargo Discharge Permission(DNC)” in “Introduction of the Advance Filing Rules on Maritime Container Cargo Information (guidance) ”.

Procedure for the application for cargo discharge permission③

- An advance notice with “SPD” code on the ground that the cargo information was late for the deadline (switched from “HLD”)

Procedure for the application for cargo discharge permission

- ① When those who discharge the cargo receive an advance notice with SPD code which was switched from an advance notice with HLD code, due to missing the filing deadline, they need to request the relevant party to correct and/or add the cargo information which received an advance notice with “HLD” code, or correct and/or add the cargo information by themselves. Japan Customs provides instructions on the items to which correction and addition are necessary with an advance notice with “SPD” code, when switching the notice from “HLD” to “SPD”.
